The vision of T&K Grassroots K kosher Food Truck started as a dream. Created by Troy Harris and Kareem Wallace, the food truck is a story about inspiration and resilience. Harris and Wallace met one another during their tenure as members of Hillel's dining staff at the University of Pennsylvania. After nearly two decades of dedication to providing delicious and carefully prepared meals to the students, these two co-workers knew it was time to think big and launch their own business.

Using their passion for cooking along with their unwavering commitment to their respective families and community, they developed the idea of a kosher dairy food truck. But the T&K Grassroots Food Truck is not just any food truck. The purpose of this entrepreneurial endeavor goes beyond merely establishing a means of supporting one's family. These men are determined to bring renewal, financial stability, and opportunities to the community. And recent headlines have proven that even after six years of trying to make this dream a reality, the need for this type of undertaking is still very real and timely.

Troy and Kareem both firmly believe that the best way to break the cycles of poverty and violence that have plagued our city is by empowering the residents of our community with opportunities. T&K Grassroots is a grassroots mission to provide participants with valuable vocational and management training, while simultaneously teaching them to become entrepreneurs. With this valuable training under their belts, participants can pay these lessons and skills forward to another wave of participants, uplifting the community with hope and promise for a brighter tomorrow. We look forward to being a valuable resource to the Har Zion community.
