

Dear Representative _____,

I am writing to you as a concerned constituent regarding the alarming rise of antisemitism in schools, particularly in Pennsylvania. As someone deeply committed to fostering a safe and inclusive educational environment for all students, I am troubled by recent statistics that indicate a significant decline in the sense of safety and belonging among Jewish students on college campuses.

Before October 7th, a reassuring 67 percent of American Jewish college students felt safe on campus. However, post-October 7th, this figure plummeted to a mere 46 percent. This drastic decrease in perceived safety is deeply concerning and necessitates urgent action to address the root causes of antisemitism in our educational institutions.

Furthermore, a survey conducted by the Center for Antisemitism Research revealed that a staggering 70 percent of college students believe that more should be done to combat antisemitism on campus. These statistics underscore the urgency of implementing effective measures to address this pressing issue.

I am writing to express my full support for the memo "Combatting Antisemitism in Pennsylvania's Educational System," which includes House Bill 2001, House Bill 1986, and House Resolution 311. These legislative proposals offer crucial steps toward combating antisemitism and promoting a culture of inclusivity and tolerance in our educational system.

House Bill 2001, which recognizes antisemitism as bullying/harassment on college campuses, is a vital step in ensuring that incidents of antisemitism are appropriately addressed and that Jewish students feel supported and protected.

House Bill 1986, which provides holocaust instruction transparency in our public schools, is essential for educating students about the atrocities of the Holocaust and the consequences of antisemitism. By promoting Holocaust education, we can instill empathy, understanding, and a commitment to combating antisemitism among future generations.

House Resolution 311, declaring antisemitism awareness and education day in Pennsylvania, is a powerful statement of our commitment to combating antisemitism and promoting awareness and education on this critical issue.

I urge you to prioritize the passage of these measures and to take decisive action to address antisemitism in Pennsylvania's educational system. Every student deserves to learn and thrive in an environment free from discrimination and bigotry, and it is incumbent upon us to ensure that this fundamental right is upheld.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter. I look forward to your support and leadership in combating antisemitism and promoting a culture of tolerance and inclusion in our schools.

Sincerely,
