

A Classic of the Yiddish Stage

Performed in Theatre Ariel's Signature Salon Style

May 18th @ 8pm, Temple Beth Am Israel, Penn Valley, PA
May 19th @ 1pm in West Mount Airy (for venue, visit ticketing page)

In a shtetl devastated by war, a soldier returns from the front lines, speaking of a land free from prejudice, suffering, war and hunger. But is this land really what it seems – or something darker? Written in response to World War I, Asch's poetic play continues to resonate in our present moment.

Presented in Theatre Ariel's signature Salon reading style, featuring a talented cast of Philly's finest professional actors and local community performers.
