INNOVATION UPDATE FROM ISRAEL IDEAS Mosquito 'Love Bombs' to Combat Deadly Epidemics

Mosquitoes kill more humans than any other single organism, by far. The insects transmit malaria, dengue fever, yellow fever, the Zika virus and other diseases to millions of people every year. Malaria alone kills over 400,000 people per year, mostly children, and as climate change provides the insects with hospitable new habitats, including in the US and Western Europe, the death toll will continue to rise.

Now an Israeli startup, Senecio Robotics, has unveiled a plan to combat the menace by efficiently mass producing and dispersing sterile mosquitoes by the planeload, potentially saving millions.
