INNOVATION UPDATE FROM ISRAEL IDEAS

Wireless Charging Anywhere You Want

You come home with a smartphone battery close to dead, but its charging cable is nowhere to be found. And your kids want to play with that new rechargeable toy truck right now but it needs an hour or two before it's juiced up. Wouldn't it be great if you didn't have to worry about charging your devices and toys? If wherever you usually put them – in a briefcase, backpack or gym bag for the phone; in the toy box for the truck – was itself a battery charger?

That's what Omri Lachman's startup Humavox promises: wireless charging anywhere, anytime, from nearly anything.
