No God But Spinoza's: Spiritual and Philosophical Influences on Einstein's Thought – REBECCA NEWBERGER GOLDSTEIN

Former MacArthur fellow and recipient of the National Humanities Medal

When asked for his philosophical outlook, Einstein always referred to Spinoza, the seventeenth-century Jewish iconoclast. Spinoza's vision of reality and the kind of explanations it demanded resonated deeply with the twentieth century's own scientific iconoclast, whose relativity theory helped topple classical physics along with our most fundamental intuitions about space and time. Spinoza died before physics really came into its own with the publication of Newton's Mathematical Principles of Natural Philosophy, so his influence on Einstein is all the more surprising. What were the intuitions that both thinkers shared – and are they in any way connected with Jewish texts and ideas?

The Exodus from Egypt is the founding story of the people of Israel. The rich text of Exodus 1-15, familiar from Cecil B. DeMille's The Ten Commandments, can be examined from different perspectives. Each of these seeks information from the details, resolving difficulties in the text and adding layers of meaning. In four sessions, we will understand why the text is written the way it is, what may have happened and how we learn about that, and the implication for Israelite and later Jewish tradition.

How to Support Grieving Parents of Pregnancy and Infant Loss

by Dvora Entin, LCSW, Director of Ma'oz

The U.S. has an alarmingly high rate of miscarriage, stillbirth, and infant mortality for a developed country. The grief a family suffers at this type of loss is devastating, and is largely under-acknowledged here and around the world. Today, couples may access conference call support groups, a moderated chat groups, and other resources for mothers, couples, and fathers who have suffered a perinatal loss. In terms of offering support to grieving parents, I suggest the following guidelines.

Philadelphia Food Distributions

One Sunday each month, 750-1,000+ volunteers of all ages and backgrounds meet as a community at our Northeast Philadelphia warehouse, located at 10980 Dutton Road,

Philadelphia, 19154. These volunteers pack fresh produce and non-perishable kosher food, load their cars with boxes, and deliver food and a smile into the homes of those in need. This is a great way to fulfill your community service requirements for school or work. Community service forms are available at each of our food distributions. Box packing takes place from 10 - 11:30 AM, followed by food delivery. Early risers are welcome to help make boxes and bag fresh produce (no produce during the summer) between 8:30 - 10 AM. Just be sure to wear closed toe shoes while in the warehouse, as sandals are not permitted. Looking to volunteer later in the day or short on time? Food boxes can be picked up for delivery from 8:30 AM to 3 PM. Most delivery routes consist of 8-12 boxes and typically take about an hour to complete. Driving directions and a map are provided.

To volunteer, sign up for our email list (where you will receive an email prior to each distribution that will contain a link that you can use to register directly for that food distribution), email <mailto:jra@jewishrelief.org>, or call 610-660-0190 x104.
