INNOVATION UPDATE FROM ISRAEL IDEAS

Controlling Your Home with a Fingertip

The onecue universal control center from eyeSight lets users communicate with just about any connected device in the home with the swipe of a hand. One control - all devices. It is supposed to hit the market in early 2015. Major researchers agree that, by the year 2020 there will be over 25 billion interconnected devices on the planet, so technology companies are working hard to serve that burgeoning market. As leaders in this effort, these two Israeli companies PointGrab and eyeSight, are at the forefront of enhancing our lives.
