INNOVATION UPDATE FROM ISRAEL IDEAS

An Israeli developed smartphone for the blind - may save drivers' lives

You've seen the commercials on TV: a mom is backing out of the driveway when her car automatically stops because a small child is riding his tricycle across behind her...a man is driving down the road when something falls off a truck in front of him, and his car automatically swerves...Mercedes Benz claiming to be the leader in making safer cars with advanced technology. It's all due to a collision avoidance system developed by Israeli company Mobileye. Now, another Israeli company has developed a technology to make us all safer on the roads – an eyes-free mobile phone. Not just hands free, but eyes free.
