Learning through the Week

Monday

Talmud with Rabbi Sarra Lev, PhD

11:45 AM-12:45 PM

The rabbinic prohibitions against shaming another often lie in stark contrast to stories of shaming and competition among those very same rabbis. This class asks the overarching question – what is the Talmud trying to tell us about shame/shaming?

Rabbi Lev is an associate professor of rabbinic texts (Talmud and Midrash) at the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College. She has taught adult education in many contexts including synagogues, Jewish Alive & American, the Feminist Center of the American Jewish Congress, Me'ah, and Bat Kol: A Feminist House of Study, which she co-founded. She delights in teaching.

December 11, 18 (Spring: 3/4, 11, 18, 25 and 4/1)

11 AM

An in-depth, multi-faceted study of our Shabbat liturgy. By “unpacking” the many layers of meaning and commentary, by delving into the history, background and lives of the great intellectual giants who wrote our prayers, we gain a keener understanding of their meaning and of the values and ideals inherent in them. Through this sharper knowledge and understanding, we discover what we stand for as Jews.

In prior years, we covered the Birchot HaShachar, P'sukei D'Zimrah, the Shma and its Blessings and the Amidah (Shmoneh Esrai). We begin this semester with Kreeat HaTorah (Torah Reading service) and Haftarah, the Musaf service (additional service) and the concluding prayers for Shabbat morning. Join us, learn and study with us so that you can connect more readily and easily to our heritage and keep our legacy alive and thriving.

Are you dealing with, aging parents, the loss of your parents, family illness, and their health, adult children, and dating just to name a few? Archaeology and the Bible: What do we know? What can we do?

Archaeology has the potential to teach us a lot about people who lived long ago. It also has the potential to be misused to confirm preconceived notions about the past. Since the Bible is such a polarizing document, archaeology has been mustered by some seeking to "prove" the Bible and by others seeking to discredit the Bible. Dr. Ely Levine, who earned his doctorate in Biblical studies and archaeology, will speak about his experience in the field, and how it informs conversations between these two fields.
