God and "Goldberg"

Message from

Rabbi Scott Rosenberg

There is an old joke about synagogue services. The Rabbi asks Mr. Levine why he goes to shul. Mr. Levine responds, "You shouldn't ask me, you should ask Goldberg. He goes to shul to talk to God. I go to talk to Goldberg."

When I think about what it means to belong to a synagogue today, creating space for people to both talk to God and talk to "Goldberg" are each essential elements of what a synagogue experience should be about. Over the past few months, we have been spending a lot of time talking about our new and expanded program of Shabbat worship and study. We are proud of these new programs. We are proud of how we have listened to the voices of our members as presented in our strategic plan and are growing our spiritual community.

However our strategic map did not only focus on the Shabbat and worship experience. "Talking to Goldberg" or community building is also a major focus of our plan. When I think about our community building efforts, I think about programs like the Joy of Shabbat Dinner, Guess Who is Coming to Shabbat?, our Friday night Onegs, Kid-dush after services, study on Shabbat morning, breakfast every day after our morning minyan, or our recently introduced Seudah Shelishit (the third meal) between Minha and Ma'ariv on Shabbat afternoon. All of these are ongoing community-building aspects of the Har Zion experience. They are times you can come, talk, visit with friends, meet new people and get to know the rich and diverse community that considers Har Zion Temple their shul. If you have yet to join us for one of these informal social events, I invite you to join us any time your schedule permits. And

Whitwell Comes to Penn Valley

Saturday, March 5, 9:30 AM

We welcome our "Paper Clips" friends from Tennessee to our Kol Tefilah Service in the Main Sanctuary.

Sandra Roberts, founding teacher of the project, and students Dalton Slatton and Shania Davis will speak on "Sacred Relationships."

The congregation is invited to a special Extended Kiddush celebrating our five-year partnership with the Paper Clips Project.

This special Kiddush and celebration is being sponsored by Joy Landau in honor of her birthday.

The Paper Clips Project started as a simple eighth grade project involving students from the small town of Whitwell, Tennessee.

The goal was to use Holocaust education to study diversity, tolerance, and prejudices. The project gained worldwide attention and momentum and led to the award-winning documentary film, "Paper Clips." Today, the Whitwell Middle School is the home of the Children's Holocaust Memorial and Museum. At last count, over 33 million paper clips have been received, six million of them housed in an authentic German railcar on the school grounds.

EDUCATION . . .

Message from

Rabbi Nogah Marshall, Educational Director

Just a little over a month ago, I attended the annual Jewish Educators Assembly Conference right over the bridge in Mount Laurel, New Jersey. The mission of the Jewish Educators Assembly is to promote excellence among educators committed to Conservative Jewish Education by advancing professionalism, encouraging leadership, pursuing life-long learning and building community. Every year, Conservative educators of synagogue schools and day schools gather together for a week of learning, networking, and sharing of ideas. The conference begins with a wonderful gala event called "20/20-The Future Is Clear," at which 20 emerging leaders in their 20's from the local Jewish community are honored. Honorees are teachers, youth professionals, and camp professionals, all affiliated with the Conservative Movement.

I am extremely proud to say that one of our very own teachers of The Jane Fishman Grinberg Religious School, specifically our Madregot - Special Needs program, was one of the 20 emerging leaders honored this year. Bryan Kirschner, the son of Hope and Lee Kirschner, was honored for his commitment to his work with Special Education within the Jewish community.

Bryan has been a member of Har Zion Temple his entire life. He celebrated his Bar Mitzvah at Har Zion, was confirmed from Har Zion and graduated from the JFGRS Midrasha Program where he received a teaching certificate. During high school, Bryan participated in the TAP (Teen Assistant Program) Program through ACAJE/Jewish Learning Venture. TAP is Jewish Learning Venture's education initiative through which a group of selected high school students are trained and mentored to assist children with special needs and those experiencing difficulty in congregational classroom settings and in the community. When Bryan completed the TAP program he served as a teaching assistant in the Madregot program during his senior year. At Penn State University, he was the first freshman at the synagogue to ever be hired to teach Hebrew School primarily due to his experience here at Har Zion. Since he has returned home after graduation in 2011, Bryan has been part of our Madregot faculty. In addition, Bryan has helped run the largest wheelchair basketball league on the East Coast during the summer months. During the winter, he coaches and referees a Special Needs basketball team/league in West Philadelphia. Bryan is currently studying for

Youth Update

Hello everyone! It's your USY president, Michelle Herzberg!

This year is flying by and we've had so much fun so far, but there is so much more fun to be had! Winter Kinnus (Midwinter Convention) was at the end of January, and it was a blast! In February, we escaped the cold and had a "cozy night in" in our Charlestein Youth Lounge; everybody wore their pajamas and we played board games, sang, and relaxed.

It was a great change of pace and a nice way to just chill out with fellow Jewish teens! Coming up on March 5 is USY Prom. It may seem early to be having prom, but USY Prom is just a chance to dress up and dance with your friends. The following weekend, March 12, Har Zion USY is having our ice skating event. I invite everyone to come out, throw on some skates, and take advantage of the winter before its gone. I'm so excited for the fun events coming up in March, and I hope you are too!

Please come join Har Zion USY. If you would like to find out more information, please email me at hztusy613@gmail.com. See you soon!

Gardening with Children

Message from Debbie Folz,
Early Childhood Education Director

Gardening is a wonderful way for children to discover, explore and learn. And what child doesn't enjoy mucking around in the dirt? The beauty of gardening in a preschool program is that you can involve children every step of the way – from learning about different kinds of plants and deciding what to grow to plant, harvest, and prepare and ultimately share food.

The whole process of gardening, easily woven into the fabric of a preschool day, is an extended sensory and learning experience which could include researching the right plants to grow, preparing the soil, digging and planting, watering, weeding and observing the plants growing and flowering.

This year, The Noreen Cook Center for Early Childhood Education was fortunate that our Home and School Association also saw the benefits of having a garden for our preschoolers. They funded our garden, giving each of our Shorashim, Prachim and Gan classes their own raised bed to cultivate. The children and teachers are now in the process of deciding what to grow, and soon will be planting the seeds. As spring approaches they will partake in nurturing the garden by watering, weeding and watching their seedlings come to life. During the summer, our Har Zion Day Campers will continue to care for the garden. What pleasure and excitement the children will experience when they are able to finally harvest and eat the fruits of their labor! I can't wait to share in the joy of tasting what our children put their hearts and souls into creating.

Don't forget to stop by and see how our garden grows!

HAZAAC Har Zion Active Adults Club

What Is It About DST?

By Gerald Spector, HAZAAC Chair

On March 13, at 2:00 AM, Daylight Saving Time begins. I find the phrase "Daylight Saving Time" intriguing. Philosophizing on its meaning, I wonder about what is being saved and why. Does the phrase mean that daylight is saving time? Or does it mean that we should be saving only when it is daylight? Should we be saving time? Are we saving daylight for future use? "Saved" daylight does not make the night go away. "Saved" time does not extend one's life. Daylight and time are ephemeral assets that we can neither save nor bequeath.

Regardless of Daylight Saving Time, we all have real assets that we want to protect and bequeath to our heirs. But do we know the best way to accomplish this? What strategies are optimal and what pitfalls can be avoided? To find out, please join Har Zion Active Adults Club (HAZAAC) on Wednesday, March 16, when we will present an Estate Planning and Elder Law Workshop seminar led by Ricki Goodstein, Esq. of Goodstein Law Associates. Among the issues to be discussed are:

- The advantages and disadvantages of Wills and Living Trusts
- Maintaining your privacy and protecting your estate against a living probate if you become disabled (Not all Powers of Attorney are valid!)
- Planning for Long Term Care
- How to leave property to your children (there's a right way and wrong way)
- Why putting property in children's names may be a mistake
- Protecting your children's inheritance from ex-spouses, lawsuits, or other claims
- Preserving your estate for your kids if your surviving spouse remarries
- Probate and how you can avoid it
- How to qualify and use Medicaid to pay for nursing home expenses which can be over $10,000 per month locally
- Providing for special needs (disabled) children and grandchildren

There will be a Lunch at 11:30 AM; the seminar will follow at 1:00 PM. Lunch is free for HAZAAC members who have paid their membership dues. Others are invited at $15.00 per person which may be applied towards the $50.00 annual dues. The seminar is FREE for everyone. Please call Marcy Gubernick at 610-667-5000 by Monday, March 14, to make reservations for lunch.

SISTERHOOD . . .

Getting to Know Your Sisters

By Norma Dworkin, Sisterhood Co-President

This month I was privileged to interview Susan Gross. Her story begins after the Holocaust in Transylvania, Romania. Her parents survived the Shoah, however their extended families had mostly been destroyed. Susan grew up in Romania until the age of 15 when her parents were finally granted visas in 1962 to emigrate to France and then the US with only two trunks of clothing and a small suitcase. The family lived in Forest Hills, New York. Upon arriving, Susan's aunt enrolled her in summer school where she learned English in a social studies class. Susan had always been a good student and was advanced in her studies and fluent in Hungarian, Romanian, French, German and Spanish. While a senior in high school she went to Julliard to study piano. She met Peter, also a child of Holocaust survivors, at a bus stop waiting with other teens from Romania. They were married five years later and her life took a big turn! Susan stated, "The story of my life is that I followed my husband everywhere!"

Susan went to Queen's College where she double majored in French and Spanish while Peter was studying astrophysics at Columbia. She worked briefly as a foreign correspondent in New York City before moving to New Haven for Peter's Ph.D. program at Yale. There she worked as a Subject and Language Specialist in the Yale Library cataloguing foreign books. She then decided to get her master's in French and taught for a year until she had their first child, Nicole. Afterwards, the family moved to West Chester for Peter's post-doctorate work at IBM. Their son, Edward, was born here. When Peter took a position as an assistant professor at Case Western, Susan got her Language Supervisor Certificate and taught. Peter's next career choice brought them to Columbus for an accelerated medical school program. Elissa was born during this time. Finally, Susan requested that for Peter's residency, they move back to the East coast to set down roots and to be closer to their mothers.

The family joined Har Zion in 1982 when Nicole and Edward started religious school. They felt very welcomed by Rabbi Wolpe and the entire congregation. Their 4th child, Amy, was born in 1984, after losing Susan's mother to cancer. Susan has always been active at Har Zion. Besides being involved in the PTA, Sisterhood, and school board, she has served on the Board of Directors for 20 years and was Vice President of Education, Secretary of the Board of Trustees, and served on numerous committees. Susan truly feels that Har Zion is the extended family that she and Peter do not have.

Susan taught French for 30 years and a few years of Spanish in the Lower Merion School System and was the World Language Department Chair at Harriton High School. She also started a Tolerance and Acceptance unit while at Harriton to help students study people of different cultures and backgrounds. She feels strongly that respect and acceptance of all people is paramount for a healthy society. Susan also

With Spring Comes Renewal and Celebration of Freedom

Message from Jack Marine,
Men's Club Co-President

In March the weather is so unpredictable; just when you think the harshness of winter is gone it rears its head again. Of course, this winter's weather has been so erratic! In our Jewish world, the Torah recognizes the link between biology and the spiritual. There is a reason that Passover is celebrated in the early spring, even if we are not 100 percent sure of the historical facts. The text in Deuteronomy 16:1 reads: "Keep the month of spring, and make the Passover offering to the Lord, your God, for in the month of spring, the Lord, your God, brought you out of Egypt at night." I think the relationship between spring and Passover is pretty clear. In the early spring, we see that the earth is recovering from the cold, lifeless winter. The spring equinox marks the astronomical transition to the time of year when daylight and nighttime are equal, and going forward daylight predominates. So too, in our spiritual world, light again is a force. Waking up with sunlight and light into the early evening – who doesn't feel a sense of renewal at that time of year? Passover is our celebration of freedom, of God's force in the lives of the Hebrews, a force that has been carried down over thousands of years. Passover is the most celebrated Jewish holiday, even by those who do nothing else Jewish the entire year, the desire for family continuity and tradition is strong, even in our modern secular world. And, this year Passover falls on Earth Day!

Watch for our couples Paint Nite Out on March 12 at Pinot's Palette in Ardmore, co-sponsored with the Sisterhood. Although Holocaust Remembrance Day doesn't happen until May, Men's Club, along with the Hebrew High students (and YOU) will be making up our Yellow Candle cartons on Sunday March 13, in the Berkowitz Auditorium. So... though March can still be cruel, have faith – more light is coming. Soon those first crocuses will break through the soil in the garden. Get the gardening gloves and tools ready: As the world turns, and so do our minds and bodies. Enjoy the optimism of the spring.

HOLIDAYS

There are two months of Adar this year. Adar Bet (the second Adar) begins on March 11.

Purim begins Wednesday evening March 23rd and is also celebrated on Thursday, March 24. Megillah Ruth is read Wednesday evening and Thursday morning. The Fast of Esther precedes the Purim celebration. The Fast begins Wednesday morning.

The Library contains a wealth of information about these events. Please come in and browse.

PURIM BOOKS FOR CHILDREN

We have a wonderful collection of children's books for Purim. Many titles contain meaningful (and often humorous) stories with beautiful illustrations. Ask the staff!

NEW ITEM OF INTEREST

The Fourth Commandment: Remember the Sabbath Day by Francine Klagsbrun

Although many books have been written about the Sabbath, this one is unique: it reflects a woman's perspective, it contains many charming personal anecdotes and at the same time, it is rich in scholarly, historical material. To read this very "reader-friendly" book is to be exposed to centuries of Jewish thought regarding the Sabbath and what it means to be a human being – a creature that can reflect as well as do. Klagsbrun provides an important analysis of our cell phone-glued existence, offering the Sabbath as a vital corrective to our compulsive, over-worked lifestyle. (Amazon Review)

TIKKUN OLAM . . .

Tikkun Olam Upcoming Schedule

Shul Stitchers – March 8 at 11:30 AM, April 12 at 11:30 AM, April 14 at 7:00 PM

Cook For A Friend – Sunday, March 20 at 9:00 AM

It was snowy outside, but springlike with "trees bearing fruit" at the Brith Sholom and Saunders House for the TuB'Shvat Seders hosted by the Tikkun Olam Committee.

Below is a letter we received from the Veterans Multi-Service Center.

Andy –

I was able to personally present a basket loaded with helpful items, and a blanket, to a Veteran on Friday evening as he signed for his new apartment. This gentleman had been living in a place not meant for habitation, barely getting by, and is very thankful for the community support as he gets back on his feet.

I wish I'd had the ability to snap a photo of his grateful face, but it was dark and the snow was getting ready to come down in force. (He did not actually move in on Friday because we still need to move in a bed, but through our SSVF program was safe in a hotel for the weekend.)

He is just one of the many, many individual Veterans we help all year long, and your donations allow us to show just how much the community cares.

Thanks!!!

MITZVAH MAGIC at 2016 MLK DAY

his master's in Special Education at Cabrini College.

As a Jewish educator, my overarching core value is to kindle a spark that will lead to a life-time commitment to Jewish learning, discovery, belief, and affiliation. Our ideal graduate never stops learning and identifies both in word and practice with Klal Yisrael, the Jewish community, in particular, the synagogue community. Bryan Kirschner is a true dugma, an example, of the product of our synagogue school and the Conservative Movement. With people like Bryan and the other honorees I met at the Gala, I know the future of the Conservative Movement is in great hands. As it says in Pirkei Avot 2:7, The Ethics of Our Fathers:

More Torah, more life,
More study, more wisdom;
More counsel, more understanding;
More good deeds, more peace.

Thank you Bryan and all of our Madregot teachers for your dedication to our Special Needs community. You are an inspiration to us all.

Har Zion hosted and co-sponsored the Jewish Learning Venture "Opening the Gates of Torah" Special Needs conference on February 7. Rabbi Charles Sherman was the keynote speaker, pictured here with Gabby Kaplan-Mayer (JLV Director of Whole Community Inclusion) and Rabbi Nogah Marshall.

sponsored the World Language Club and started the first public school squash program in the country.

Family has always been central to Susan's life. She and Peter have enjoyed tennis, squash, skiing and traveling together including several visits to Israel. Susan feels blessed with 47 years of marriage, four grown children, two son-in-laws and three wonderful grandchildren (from her daughter, Nicole). Now that Susan is retired, she enjoys playing mah jongg and bridge, participates in two reading groups and weekly visits with her grandchildren. She loves reading and enjoys classical music and attending operas at the Met. At present, Susan continues to tutor, help in her husband's office, and takes care of her cousins! She herself is a five-year cancer survivor. In the future, she hopes to have time to volunteer with the elderly. She would also love to go to Israel for an extended period of time to study.

Susan loves family and life. She is very optimistic and strong-willed to take things on as they come. She feels that it is essential to respect oneself and others and by doing so, one can live life gracefully. Thank you, Susan, for sharing your story. We are fortunate to have you as a member of our Har Zion family and to benefit from your intellect and compassion!

According to Jewish law, every Jew is obligated to give Tzedakah (i.e. charity). It is traditional to give Tzedakah in memory of loved one, when we receive a synagogue honor, or when we have a simha (joyous experience). Making a contribution to any of the funds listed is a wonderful way to honor family, friends or to share the joy of a simha.
